When Arrested and Plend Gultty to Grand Lurceny How It Was Arranged, The Brookiyn police have very satisfactorily as well as expeditiously cleared up the mystery attending the binding, gagging, chloroforming. and beating of young Herbert McConnell, the clerk in J. Fred Windolph's drug store, in State street and Flathush avenue, on Tuesday night, as well as the pilfering of Mr. Windolph's till, McConnell himself and his friend Charles Earnest Louthwood of 174 Livingston street, aspired by the Dr. Drury robbery, and desirous of securing the contents of Mr. Windolph's cash drawer, put up the jobas a "fake," and carried it out in such an apparently realistic manner that they were confident the detectives would

When McConnell, however, had been subjected to a protracted cross-questioning at the Bergen street police station on Wednesday night, and all the weak points in his story de-veloped, he broke down and made a full confession of the fake. It was not until Inspector Mc-Kellar took up the "gag" end of the narrative that the young clerk succumbed. McConnell, it will be remembered, had told how the robber, after beating him on the head until he became almost insensible, had shoved a table napkin in his mouth.

"Why did you not try to get rid of this?" he was asked.

I did." McConnell replied. " My hands were tied, but there was a loose end of the gag hanging out. I let it drop into an open drawer, closed the drawer, and tried to draw it out by pulling back my head, but it would not come."

Then Inspector Mackellar shoved the napkin into Detective Rorke's mouth and told him to blow it out if he could. Horke gave a big puff and the napkin flew from his mouth. McConnell was so impressed with the experiment that he made up his mind to tell the truth. He then told how he and young Louthwood became acquainted when they lived together in Toronto, and how they renewed the friendship when they came to Brooklyn. Louthwood is employed as stenographer in a lawyer's office in this city, and boards at the Livingston street in this city, and boards at the Livingston street house, and he induced McConnell to go there for his meals. McConnell and Louthwood learned to play poker before they left Canada, and have not lost their interest in the fascinating game since they came to Brooklyn. They also once in a while invested some of their savings in the races. Of late both have been in hard lick, and when they met on Tuesday afternoen, McConnell, as his confession goes, told Louthwood that his employer had a snug sum of money in the drawer which would be of great service to them in making good their losses and starting them on a fresh gambling venture. Hefore separating, the scheme to secure the money and fool the druggist and the police was arranged. Louthwood went to the store about midnight, but it was not until 3 o'clock that the "fake" robbery business began. McConnell says he was very careful to furnish Louthwood with the refined Squibb preparation of chloroform instead of the regular drug, which might have killed him with its fumes. After handing his confederate the entire contents of the money drawer, amounting to $101, he threw the fee pick at the show case, and then said to Louthwood:

"Start in and give me a licking." house, and he induced McConnell to go there for

said to Louthwood:
"Start in and give me a licking."
Louthwood then punched him until his teeth rattled. Finally, when he was knocked down, McConnell said he had enough. McConnell, however, bumped his head several times against the door casing before he considered himself in proper shape for the gagging, binding, and chloroform. Finally, when the job was completed, Louthwood bade him good night and went off.

ent off. McConnell said that although he got all the McConnell said that although he got all the licking, Louthwood was to get an equal share of the money. When he had wound up his confession he seemed very anxious that Louthwood should be caught as quickly as possible, and gave the detectives a tip to entrap him. A decoy telegraph message was sent to Louthwood early in the morning, telling him that there was a despatch from a young woman for him at the telegraph office in the Arbuckle building. He soon appeared in front of his boarding house, and was nabbed before he had gone two blocks. At first he made a kick and was vigorous in his denial of all knowledge of the robbery, but when he was landed at the station he made equally as full a confession as McConnell. He still had $87 of the stolen money in his pockets, sooth pleaded guilty to a charge of grand largeny and were held for the Grand Jury by Police Justice Tighe. Both lads are well connected in Toronto.

McConnell has been with Druggist Winderone, and so weeks, but during that time he had established himself so completely in Windolph's confidence that the druggist never questioned the truth of his robbery story. When the boy saked Mr. Windolph to let up on him, the latter said:

"I can't interfere. I am sorry for you, for I liked you very much. My confidence in human pature has often been shaken before, but you have done more to destroy it than anybody sise."

APPO UP BEFORE GOFF. The Recorder Wouldn't Look at His Star

George Appo, the half-breed Chinaman who was one of Mr. Goff's star witnesses about the green goods business before the Lexow committee last year, was arraigned yesterday before the same Mr. Goff, now the Recorder, to answer for an assault which it is said that he made upon a policeman in April. On April 9, according to the charge, Appo attacked Policeman Michael J. Ryan with a knife at Sixth avenue and Twenty-eighth street, cutting him in the neck slightly. He was arrested and held in $1,000 ball at the Jefferson Market and held in $1,000 ball at the Jefferson Market Court.

Mrs. Sallade, who is also a reformer, went his bail, and then he ran away. He was arrested in Buffalo on Tuesday night and on Wednesday night Detective Sergeant Robert McNaught of the Central Office brought him back here. Yesterday morning the police had a new picture made of Appo and then sent him to the Criminal Court building.

It was nearly noon when Appo was arraigned before the Recorder. Appo evidently took a sort of mulicious joy in being before Mr. Goff and tried to reëstablish some sort of a connection with him, but the Recorder would not even look at him.

tion with him, but the Recorder would not even look at him.

When called upon by the clerk to plead Appo shouted "Not guilty" in a loud voice, trying at the same time to catch the Recorder's eye. The Recorder looked blankly into space and committed Appo for trial without naming any bail. Appo then pleaded that he was without a lawyer or means to hire one, but the Recorder did not appear to hear his plea. Appowas taken to the Tombs prison and locked up. Afterward Recorder Goff assigned Ambrose H. Purdy to defend him.

BUSINESS TROUBLES. The C. P. Guyon Company Putted Bown by

The C. F. Guyon Company, hardware com mission merchants and dealers in bicycles at 97 Chambers and 79 Reads streets, made an assignment yesterday to Anthony B. Porter. The empany represents sixteen manufacturers of hardware, and also handles the goods of the Monarch Cycle Company of Chicago. The assignment was precipitated by the failure of the Lockwood Manufacturing Company of South Norwalk, whose goods the Guyon Company has on consignment and whose paper it has endorsed. The liabilities are currently reported to be $150,000. Charles F. Guyon, the President, said yesterday that the assignment was due solely to the failure of the Lockwood Company. His company has goods of the other company on consignment, and somebody walked into his store with an attachment against the Lockwood Company yesterday. Fearing that others might follow, it was decided to make an assignment for the protection of the Guyon Company. The whole matter had come so sud-denly that he could not say how his company stood, and it would require several days to make up a statement.

The Sheriff received yesterday an attachment The Sheriff received yesterday an attachment against the Lockwood Company for $14.100 in favor of the Merchants National Bank of this city for money received by the company between April 17 and July 26 from the bank on the representation of H. C. Lockwood, the treasurer, that the company was solvent. The attachment was served on the Chatham and Manhattan Banks, and on the C. F. Guven Company. Charles S. Durling and Soloman H. Holcombe C. S. Durling & Co.), produce commission merchants, at 192 Duane street, made an assignment yesterday to Wm. S. Lewis. The Habilton are reported to be $20,000.

Hulda Manasse and Jacob Sandmann (Manassee & Co.), dealers in groceries and delicatessen, at 6 First avenue, made an assignment yesterday to Julius Pauly.

Thirteen judgments aggregating $26,056 were entered yesterday against the Lacovia Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of tropic fibrons waste, of 40 Exchange place and at Jamaica, West Indies, by Thomson & Allen in favor of Rufus A. Brown on notes of the company. The company was incorporated in 1853 with a capital stock of $500,000, which was afterward increased to $1,000,000.

Blumenstiel & Hirsch obtainted yesterday two attachments against the McHugh Shoe Company of Newark, for $1,531 in favor of Maurice Ryan. Blumenstiel & Hirsch said that the stock of shoes had been moved from Newark to this city ten days ago and traced to a store at 132d street and Eighth avenue, where the skin reads "McHugh," but the goods were claimed by a Yonkers man. The attachment was directed against the goods.

Deputy Sheriff Lipsky has taken charge of the place of business of William N. Sweit, publisher of books and ladles' stamping patterns, at 33 Union square, on executions of $840 in favor of Willoughby J. Wood. against the Lockwood Company for $14,160 in

SHE WON'T MARRY HIM: HE SUES. Mooney's Breach of Promise.

Frederick Siebel, a bartender, who lives at 300 East Eighty-eighth street, has brought an action for breach of promise of marriage in the City Court against Albertina K. Mooney. Siebel puts his damages at $25,000. Miss Mooney is said to be worth $60,000. Slebel says he was introduced to her by her mother in 1889, and thereafter he avers that he was a frequent and favored visitor at her home at 144 West 100th street. His suit was approved by Miss Mooney's father, and they became engaged, but the wedding was postponed owing to the death of Miss Mooney's father. The wedding was then fixed for June, 1894, but was again postponed at Miss Mooney's request in order that Siebel might have time to change his religious faith. At last it was fixed for June of this year, but when the time came Miss Mooney told him that her friends had convinced her that she would be foolish to throw herself away upon him, and that she had decided to remain single. he was a frequent and favored visitor at her

Members of the syndicate formed to underwrite the Richmond Terminal plan of reorganization have received notice of a call for 30 p cent. of their subscriptions, payable on Aug. 15. This will leave a balance of 30 p cent, yet due, 40 p cent, having been called last autumn, when securities to that amount were delivered. It is understood that settlements were made in June with the larger subscribers, and the sales of Southern Railway securities in the last two days are supposed to have been by some of the smaller subscribers, who are taking profits by selling in advance of delivery the securities due them on the 30 p cent, call just made.

payment will leave 30 P cent. still due them. This second payment indicates that progress is being made toward winding up the business of the syndicate. It is probable, however, that the remaining capital in the hands of the syndicate managers will be retained until the foreign exchange market drops to a level that will preclude the possibility of exports of specie.

The syndicate completed its operations in London to-day by delivering to the holders of its certificates the actual bonds. Now that those bonds are in the hands of the public, various estimates are being made as to the amount that will be returned to this country, chiefly on account of the material advance in price upon the figure at which the syndicate placed the bonds. These estimates run from $5,000,000. One or two banking houses have been doing an arbitrage business in these bonds between here and London ever since the awards were made, and dealers in Governments have been buying the bonds to arrive for some time past. Beyond question a large percentage of the bonds sold abroad has been marketed here, but whatever the amount may be, it should not be assumed that payment for them must be made at this time, since remittances on account of bonds sold here have been going on steadily ever since the selling movement began, and have, of course, kept pace with the sales.

THE MONETARY TRUST,

50 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, Money-making as an Applied Science.

The accumulation of wealth must always go forward in obedience to natural laws. Hen can save a sucleus from wages or salaries, but individual for tunes are principally created by the growth of the country or the tendency of the times. To make money one must act at the right place at the right time; must comprehend a given situation and profit from its developments, must put eneself in a position which will be protected and improved by existing financial and industrial tendencies. The Monetary Trust was created to ald its clients in this effort, and Trust was created to aid its clients in this effort, and its officers will invest at their best judgment any fond, however large, however small, in such mannar to receive somewhat of the general prosperity as its returns and the growth of the country as it develops. There is no other sound principle by which money can be accumulated. No called "speculation," dependent upon superficial and manipulative fluctuations, will always prove fatal. It is generally undertaken more from insatiate thirst for the results of chance than from legitimate considerations. It is daily destroying the nacious of many private fortunes, it undermines cieus of many private foriunes. It undermines judgment, breeds defect of mental vision, and defeast its own ends. Any man who tries to guide his customers through such a labyriath will finally fall in his efforts. The so-called bucket shops, and still worse, the imitation commission merchants, are the most gigan-tic financial cvil or our day, and it is unfortunate that many of them have protecting accounts with Stock Exchange firms. They have caused the Stock Exchange and other legitimate channels of courageous investment to become practically described, and have created an uncounted army of speculative insbriates, who haunt the shadows of Wall street, vagabonds of who haunt the shahows of Wall street, vagabonds of mance. The Monetary Trust was created to haugurate a reformation in this regard, which the Stock Exchange itself should have undertaken long ago. Every individual who is prepared to avoid such "speculation" will be aided by the officers of the Monetary Trust in the effort to realize more than simple interest on his money.
